

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An area array semiconductor device is constituted of a circuit wiring substrate having a circuit wiring and a semiconductor chip mounted on 5 the circuit wiring substrate and electrically connected with the circuit wiring. A sealing layer composed of a sealing resin is formed such that the sealing layer has an angle of 30° to 60° with respect to a side of the circuit wiring substrate.